

the calvary giving pathway

Understanding the journey of biblical financial stewardship can be difficult—we often see the issue through our own lens, missing the uniqueness of God’s miraculous economy. Here at Calvary, we recognize there are five stages along the giving path:

the calvary giving pathway

first-time giver

I've never given to God at Calvary before, but I'm ready to take that first step.

action

Give a gift to Calvary for the first time.

legacy giver

I give above and beyond my tithe to God at Calvary, but I want to make a kingdom impact that will outlive me.

action

Consider assets you own that could be leveraged to support the ministries at Calvary. Many Calvary families have set aside a planned gift in their will or trust as part of their estate design.

intentional giver

I've given to God at Calvary in the past, but I want to intentionally give on a regular basis.

action

Determine the amount you'd like to give (e.g., $10, $100, $500, or more) and how frequently you'd like to give that amount (e.g., weekly, biweekly, monthly, etc.). Consider creating a recurring gift via our digital platform, Pushpay.

five stages of financial stewardship sacrificial giver

I've been tithing 10% of my income, but I want to stretch that percentage to a level that's outside of my comfort zone.

action

Determine a new percentage over and above 10% that you want to give and move forward thoughtfully. Our Engagement Team can help you craft a plan that will best support the current missional activity at Calvary.

proportional giver

I've been giving to God regularly at Calvary, but I want to begin giving 10% of my income as a biblical tithe.

Calculate what 10% of your monthly income is, then give that amount in total with regularity. You can split it up into however many gifts work best for you. Many people find that biweekly giving (or each time they get paid) is easiest!
